Dear Society Members:

It is with humility that I accept the office of president of our Society. Our outgoing president, Lavern Morrissett has done such an outstanding job in this capacity that she and the other officers of the past two years deserve our sincere gratitude for the fine work that they did.

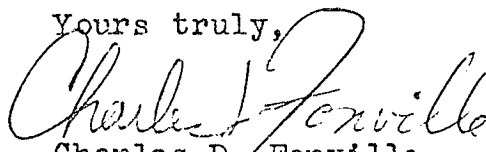

We have just ended one of the most exciting years of our lives; the celebration of our nation's Bicentennial. Many of us have celebrated 1976 with a special emphasis on genealogical research. I hope that all of our members had as rewarding a year as I had.

In the future we hope to continue to improve Family Findings as we are conscious of the need to help as many of our members as possible. We have already begun to discuss ways that we may accomplish this.

We are looking forward to publishing an index to Family Findings that will include the first eight years of publication. This work has already begun and should be finished before the end of this year.

To those who live locally and assist with our work we thank you; and to those who live out of our area and in other states we welcome your correspondence and suggestions.

Yours truly,

Charles D. Fonville
President

EDITOR'S NOTES

We are indeed grateful to Mary Anne Mitchell, a past Editor of Family Findings, for editing the last two issues in our stead. It was in Mary Anne's home that our society was first organized and she has always been helpful in many ways since that time. Thank you, Mary Anne.

OUR SOCIETY MEETS at the Jackson-Madison County Library, 433 E. Lafayette St., Jackson, Tennessee, at 7:00 PM on the second Thursday in each month. The following programs are planned for the next three months:

May 12 - "Roots" - Genealogically Speaking, by Carmen Bruer

June 9 - "Andrew Jackson and His Impact on West Tennessee" by Dr. Sam Smith, compiler of the Andrew Jackson volumes soon to be published.

July 14 - Mr. Lawrence Gardiner of Memphis, distinguished genealogist, will speak on
"Virginia Genealogical Research"

We are grateful to Elizabeth McMaster, our vice-president and program chairman for arranging for these promising programs. You are invited to attend.

RESEARCH AT JACKSON-MADISON COUNTY LIBRARY should be a must if you live anywhere in this area. Volumes in the Tennessee Room have doubled since our Society was organized over eight years ago. Recent additions include "Genealogies In The Library of Congress, Vols. I & II & the Supplement 1972-76.

A COMPLETE INDEX TO FAMILY FINDINGS back issues is now being worked up and should be completed during the year. We also hope to index each year as we go from now on.

RIVERSIDE CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS, our Bicentennial publication of Jackson's oldest city cemetery is still available at $6.00. It contains 130 pages of inscriptions and is completely indexed. To order, send check to Mid-West Tennessee Genealogical Society, P. O. Box 3343, Jackson, Tn. 38301.

"THE CROOK CLAN", a quarterly publication is now available for $6.00 a calender year. Order from Maj. L. M. Crook, 68-B Elm Street, Ft. Devers, Mass. 01433. Thanks to member Mrs. Gertrude Crook Dean for sharing this information with us.

We dedicate this issue to the memory of our first Librarian, Miss Mary O. Holmes, 1906-1977.

Gentlemen:

This office has been receiving an increasing number of requests from persons who are involved in preparing genealogies. Many of these requests are coming from your area. We are, therefore, taking this means to provide information regarding the service we offer on such requests.

As explained on the enclosed brochure, the Federal Censuses are divided into two categories. The early records (1790-1890) are open to the public and are in the custody of the National Archives and Records Service, Washington, D. C.

The Personal Census Service Branch here at Pittsburg maintains the 1900 through 1970 Federal Censuses for searching purposes. Although we do not perform genealogical research, we will search for the record of an individual when requested to do so.

The information we furnish from these records is the personal data recorded for the individual on the specific census date which includes the name, relationship to the head of household, age, place of birth and, if foreign-born, citizenship data. The names of parents or other head of household with whom the individual resided may be shown; however, the names of other persons residing in the household are not listed unless we receive the authority to do so for each person.

The personal information contained in the 1900 and later Censuses on file with this office is confidential and may be released only when certain conditions are met. We must receive the written request of the person to whom it pertains, if living. For a deceased person, the application must be signed by a member of the family in the direct bloodline (child or grandchild), a surviving brother, sister or spouse, and sent to us with the death certificate. In those instances when the death certificate is unavailable, we can accept another document which shows name and date of death, as an obituary notice, cemetery record, picture of the tombstone, etc.

The enclosed applications explain the requirements for release of personal data from the census records, the information needed to search these records and the current fee of $8.50. As the forms explain, two census years are searched for information about one person for one search fee. For genealogy purposes, the requested information can also be furnished in the form of a full schedule for a payment of $2.00 for one individual in each census year.

The full schedule we furnish is the complete one-line entry of personal data recorded for the individual on the census date; that is, in addition to name, relationship to the head of household, age, place of birth and citizenship data, the complete one-line entry may also show the place of birth of parents, sex, race, marital status, education and occupation information, depending upon the questions asked by the enumerator on the particular census date.

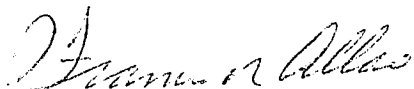

The records we maintain do not reflect names of parents of persons unless the information we locate for the individual shows that they were listed in the same household on the particular census date. The enumerators did not ask for names of parents of persons unless they were actually residing together at the time the census was taken.

Enclosed is a sample full schedule form which may prove helpful as it shows the types of questions asked in the censuses.

Our experience in searching the Federal Censuses has been that in many instances information we locate lists an individual's direct bloodline relatives (parents, grandparents, great-grandparents, etc.) living in the same household. This is very often the data many family genealogists are seeking. Since we recognize that record searching can become costly, our policy is to charge one fee of $8.50 for each family in two census years and provide a transcript of personal data (name, relationship, age and place of birth) for one member of the family. The full schedule, as indicated on the application, requires an additional $2.00 for each individual. Consequently, for one search fee, we can provide the complete one-line entries of personal data for more than one member of the family when we are furnished the following: (1) the authority to release each individual's census data; and (2) a $2.00 payment for each individual's complete one-line entry of personal data. As we are a self-supporting operation, it is necessary that we charge a fee to persons requesting information from our records; however, we do strive to provide our service as economically as possible.

If this office can be of any assistance or answer any questions in regard to our records, please let us know.

Sincerely,

Francis N. Allai

"ALEXANDER AUGUSTUS CAMPBELL"
1789--1846

Alexander Augustus Campbell, a son of Captain Francis and Nancy (Barnet) Campbell, was born in Amherst Co. Va. Dec. 30, 1789. He spent his early years at home and had only the advantages of education furnished by the common school of that day until the age of eighteen he commenced the study of medicine. Having studied for some time under the direction of Dr. Patton of Danville, Va., he went to Philadelphia and completed his study at the Medical school in that city, where he graduated in the year 1811.

In his boyhood he was at one time much concerned in regard to his eternal interest, but while he was studying with a view to his profession he became sceptical and tried hard to divest himself of a belief of the Divine existence. While attending the lectures at Philadelphia he was attacked with yellow fever, and his case became hopeless. Of his experiences at that time he has left a remarkable record:

"I knew from every symptom under which I labored that I must die; for, from the first attack of the disease I never had my mind so clear and comprehensive before or since. All nature appeared within my grasp. I disposed of my affairs and gave much direction to my friends as I wished and gave my body to my room-mates to dissect after death, requesting them to examine particular parts, I supposed were diseased. My friend, Dr. Rush, having asked me if I was prepared to die and having received an affirmative answer had left me, as he supposed for the last time. I had, indeed, no fear of death, and was perfectly willing to die any moment. At this junction, when I expected that every breath would be my last, I placed myself in a posture to be laid out, thinking this to give my friends as little trouble as possible. I waited impatiently to stop breathing. In this situation the remark of Dr. Rush came to my mind, as well as the name of Sydenham and others eminent for piety. I could not but ask myself whether, if these truly great men believed in a God, it was not the height of presumption in me, a mere stripling, to disbelieve. But then I concluded that the mind of man only possessed a certain degree of excitability or power to be acted on; and if it was greatly improved at one point, it was proportionally weakened at another, and therefore though these were great men, and had advanced far in science, it was a necessary consequence that in the same ratio their power of appreciating moral truth was weakened, and of course they must be mere fools in respect to religion. After many reflections upon my situation, I came to this conclusion with great seriousness and solemnity -- that as it was then too late to turn to God, if there was one, I would make the best of my old theory, it being all I had to depend upon, but that, if I should recover, I would abandon my principle for I should feel assured that nothing but a Divine power could restore me. At the same time, I solemnly lifted up my soul to Heaven in an earnest prayer, that, if I were in an error, God would be pleased to make it manifest to me by restoring me again to health, and then I would serve Him during the rest of my days. No sooner was this resolution made than I began to amend, and in a short time it became manifest to all that I was on the recovery. I soon wrote to my infidel friend, who had been instrumental in leading me astray, that I had abjured my principles and had become satisfied that religion was a reality."

After a long period of trial and conflict, during a part of which he imagined that he had committed the unpardonable sin, he was enabled to repose in the gracious promises of the gospel and made a public profession of his faith.

On his return from Philadelphia in 1811, he settled as a medical practitioner in Leakesville, N. C. but in 1814 he moved to Va. and settled in Goochland Co. where he remained for two or three years. In 1817, he removed to Huntsville, Ala.

As he grew in Christian knowledge and spirituality, he began to cherish the desire, and ultimately formed the purpose to devote himself to the ministry of the Gospel. He at length abandoned the practice of medicine as a profession, studied Theology under the Rev. Gideon Blackburn and was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of North Ala. on the second of April 1822. He was ordained by the same Presbytery, as an Evangelist Sept. 29th 1823. He performed his earliest labors in the ministry as an itinerant, but in 1824 he removed to Tusculum, Ala. and officiated as a stated supply at that place and at Russellville for about four years. In 1828 he was invited to take charge of the church at Florence, Ala. but declined the call on the ground that the salary that was offered him was inadequate to the support of his family; and besides he had already made arrangements to remove to Western District of Tennessee where he had actually purchased lands, and made preparation for opening a farm. He however, remained two years at Florence and his labors there were greatly blessed, not only in restoring harmony to a distracted church, but in bringing about a revival of religion by means of which the church was not a little strengthened. Forty persons being added to it in two months. He left Florence in the winter of 1829 and 1830 and removed to Haywood Co. in Western Tennessee where he preached as a missionary, traversing almost the whole District organizing churches and sowing seed which has since yielded a rich harvest. In autumn of 1832 he was invited to take charge of the church in Jackson, Tennessee. He accepted the invitation, removed thither and was installed pastor Oct. 3, 1832. Here he remained laboring most diligently and faithfully, until his ministrations were suddenly broken off by death. During this period he not only preached twice and often three times on Sunday and lectured in the week, but edited a newspaper, (The Jackson Protestant) and attended considerably to the practice of medicine. He rarely retired to rest until the clock was at least near striking the small hours. He paid frequent visits as a physician to the missionaries at Creek Path in the Cherokee nation, as well as those in the Creek nation, and while those visits had more particular reference to the health of the body, they contributed not a little to encourage and help forward the missionaries in their self-denying work.

His last illness was sudden and brief. About the middle of May, 1846 he was violently attacked with malignant erysipelas in a masked form. His suffering from the beginning was excruciating but he bore them with great fortitude and submission. He conversed freely with his friends who called to see him expressing his full confidence in God whom he served and leaving a cheerful and earnest testimony to His all-sustaining grace. About twelve hours before his death, an anodyne was administered to him with a view to alleviate his suffering and under its influence he fell into a sleep from which he passed, as he confidently believed to a better world. He died May 27, 1846 in his 57 year.

A. A. Campbell wrote this in his diary under date Dec. 30, 1828.

"This day brings me to my 39th year, and how have these years been spent? Twelve of them in childhood; five of them in resting on my own self-righteousness; four in open infidelity; two in serving God in my own strength; six in horrid despair from believing that I had committed the unpardonable sin, in openly opposing God and religion, contrary to my own conscience, and since I have been brought to rely to Jesus for salvation, what an unprofitable servant have I been."

The life of Dr. Alexander Augustus Campbell is recorded in "Annals of American Pulpits" by Sprague, Vol. 4, page 651, and in "The South in the Building of the Nation", Vol. 11, page 168. Rev. James Holmes, D. D., Professor in the West Tennessee College, said of Dr. Campbell: "Gentleness and decision were combined in eminent degree in his character. His countenance usually exhibited the benignant smile, yet, when vice was to be reproved, or principal defended, sternness marked his every feature. His personal appearance was dignified, his manners conciliatory. In ecclesiastical and other assemblies, he was always listened to with marked attention."

About the middle of May 1846, he was violently attacked with malignant erysipelas in a masked form. His suffering from the beginning was excruciating, but he bore it with great fortitude and submission. He died, May 27, 1846 in his fifty seventh year. His will was recorded in Book 6, page 31, in Jackson, Tennessee, and his mortal remains laid to rest in Riverside Cemetery, where upon his tomb can still be read: "Sacred to the memory of Alexander A. Campbell. Who was born in Amherst, Virginia, December 30, 1789. After a life of labor and usefulness in his Master's service, departed this life in Jackson, Tennessee, May 27, 1846."

Obituary of Wils Morgan taken from the Humboldt, Tenn. newspaper, THE MESSENGER, dated Friday, November 1, 1895.

Wils Morgan died at the home of his parents near Gibson on Thursday morning of last week. W. W. Morgan was a son of Elisha Morgan, 28 years of age, and a young man of very much promise. He was bright, of fine appearance and with a naturally strong mind which he had carefully developed by study. Not one country boy in an hundred was the equal of Wils Morgan. The writer was with him for several days in Nashville a few years ago and has had an opportunity to observe him both at home and abroad and can truly say he was a great credit to his parents and country. Wils Morgan was naturally good. His aim was high, He wanted to improve himself and his condition in life and he would have done it. "The good die young" was truly applicable to him. While the blow is a severe one to his parents there is much consolation for them in the thought that he was a dutiful son and that he is at rest.

Obituary of Mary Wallace Neill taken from THE MESSENGER in Humboldt Tenn. Friday November 1, 1895.

Mary Wallace Neill, eldest daughter of Hon. M. M. Neill of Trenton, Judge of the Court of Chancery Appeals, died at the residence of her uncle, Robert F. Morgan in Nashville, on Sunday after an illness of two weeks with typhoid fever. Miss Neill, who was 20 years of age, and her sister Virginia, aged 18, have been students at Ward's. Both were taken sick with typhoid fever and the mother and younger sister sent for. When it became apparent that the end of Miss Mary was near Judge Neill was called from Knoxville where the Court was sitting. Miss Virginia is very low and her recovery is hardly expected. Her mother and sister remained with her. The body of Miss Neill reached Humboldt on Tuesday morning. It was accompanied by Judge Neill, R. F. Morgan and Miss Mary Morgan, Judge W. C. Caldwell, of the Supreme Court, Judge J. W. Bonner, of the Circuit Court, Nashville, and Judges S. F. Wilson, of Gallatin, and R. M. Barton of Chattanooga, Judge Neill's associates in the Court of Appeals. The party was met here by Judge J. T. Carthell, J. H. Freeman, C. A. Elder, R. Z. Taylor, L. H. Tyree, R. P. Raines J. H. Hannah and J. R. Deason of Trenton. The funeral party went to Trenton on the 8:49 train where the body of the young and beautiful girl was laid to rest. The floral offerings were beautiful. No set pieces, but the coffin completely covered with costly roses and other cut flowers.

Obituary of Mrs. Nancy C. Stovall

Mrs. Nancy C. Stovall died at the residence of her son, G. W. Stovall, in Jackson last Saturday, aged 70 years. Mrs. Stovall was the mother of Mrs. T. J. Dowling and Mrs. A. cie Kernodle, of this town, both of whom were at her bedside. Services were conducted at the residence that evening by the Rev. George H. Simmons and the remains taken to Bethel Spring for burial on Sunday.

Obituary of Mrs. Mollie Hughes, wife of John R. Hughes

Mrs. Mollie Hughes, wife of John R. Hughes, dispatcher on the I. C. at Jackson, died in Memphis at 5 o'clock on Tuesday morning aged 36 years. Mrs. Hughes was a sister to Mrs. J. H. McDearmon of Humboldt and John Cornatzar of Mobile, both of whom were with her she died. The remains were interred in Jackson on Wednesday and Mr. McDearmon went down to the funeral. Mrs. Hughes was a very beautiful woman but for several years her health has been wretched. All summer was spent at a sanatorium in the North and as a last resort she went to Memphis.

Obituary of Mrs. Rebecca J. Howell

Mrs. Rebecca J. Howell wife of James Howell died at her home in the 18th district near Fruitland on October 18, aged 30 years, 7 months and 4 days. Mrs. Howell was a daughter of James Miller of the 18th district near Gibson. Consumption first showed itself a year ago and for 20 weeks she was confined to her bed. The end came peacefully and it was indeed a sad scene when she bade her four little children good bye and asked all those near to meet her on the bright shore she could then see. She was a staunch member of the Baptist church and the Rev. Mr. Hearn conducted the funeral at Eldad.

HISTORY OF THE WILLIAMS FAMILY, WALNUT HILL BAPTIST CHURCH, AND WILLIAMS CEMETERY

(Contributed by Judy Alpha, 120 W. Mason St., Jackson, Tn. 38301, a direct descendant of most of the individuals mentioned in the following article, many of whom are buried in the Williams Cemetery.)

One of the first families that settled east of Bells, Tennessee in the present Walnut Hill Community was Thomas and Dilly Ann Williams. They came from North Carolina, reportedly in a one-horse cart, and purchased a large tract of land in the area of the Forked Deer River near where the present Walnut Hill Baptist Church now stands.

Thomas and Dilly Ann raised a large family which included Peter, Matthew, Meekins, Berry, Newton, Williford, Louisa Jane, Siddie Ann, and Elizabeth; also two sons, Washington and Alfred, who are believed to have located in Texas during their younger years. Other family members remained in the vicinity of Walnut Hill Church. Peter married Viola Jackson, Louisa Jane married Elisha Jackson, after her death, he married Siddie Ann, Elizabeth married John Ellington, Newton married Sophronia Ellington, and Berry married Rittie Freano.

Mrs. Thomas Williams was a sister of Callier H. Medlin, son of Matthew Medlin of Franklin Co., N. C. Callier Medlin came to Tennessee in 1850 with his wife Rowena Gay Medline, two sons, Moses W. and Beverly, and daughter, Siddie Ann, who married Dock Williams and who located in Texas.

Moses married Dillie Ann Williams, daughter of Peter and Viola Williams and their children were Hill Medlin who married Maggie Davis, Minnie married R. L. Henderson, Geneva married S. J. Henderson, after his death, she married J. D. Emison, Annie married Noah Richards, Ernest married Alfred Emison and Tina married Jesse Richards.

Beverly married Dillie Williams, daughter of Meekins Williams.

It is now believed that Thomas Williams was a brother of Nathaniel Williams who with his wife, Gillie, settled near Fruitvale. They were sons of Allen and Nancy Williams of Franklin County, N. C.

WALNUT HILL BAPTIST CHURCH

Walnut Hill Baptist Church was organized about 1849, with services held in a log schoolhouse. The seats were made of logs with no backs. The first building was erected of logs in 1852 on a one acre lot which was donated by Newton Williams, son of Thomas and Dilly Ann Williams. The town of Bells had not been formed at this time and Walnut Hill was the only Baptist Church in this area. Charter members included Tommie Williams and wife, Meekins Williams, Berry Williams, Newton Williams, Nat Williams and wife, Neddy Williams, Betsy Williams, Mary Ann David, C. H. Medlin and wife, Lucette Ellington and father, and others.

The ground on which the church is presently located was given by Newton Williams in 1860 (deed still in existence) and under the terms of the deed, the original grant of one acre went back to the grantor. The first church building was torn down and the logs were moved to the home place of Elisha Jackson near Fruitvale where he used them to construct a barn. The present building was probably begun in 1861, having been erected during the Civil War. Through the years, there have been alterations to the church and remodeling, which includes Sunday School rooms, an annex and also a pastorium. There is a large cemetery at Walnut Hill Church.

WILLIAMS CEMETERY

(East of the Walnut Hill Baptist Church property is the old Williams Graveyard which was given by Thomas Williams as a family burying plot and graves of many of his descendants can be found there.)

Following is a listing of the Williams Cemetery which includes two Confederate Soldiers who are buried there. They are Matthew Williams, son of Thomas and Dilly Ann Williams and Moses W. Medlin, nephew of Mrs. Thomas Williams.

Alexander Jones - Norwood, Tenn.

My Dear Brother:

Sixty-nine years ago, according to the old family record, Matthew Henry Jones was born. This event occurred in a small log cabin on Poplar Creek near the place we afterward lived - "Martin's Place" from 1837 to 1842. At least I suppose this was the place for it was there our father died according to what you informed me as to the place. It seems to me somewhat unaccountable that our mother never told us anything about the place whilst we were living so near it from '37 to '42. I have heard her allude to the fact that they moved to the place where our father died on Friday. Disclaiming any taint of superstition, she tried to avoid moving on Friday ever afterward, thus showing how hard it is for us to divest ourselves altogether of impressions made in the nursery.

Mother spoke occasionally of the place where our father was buried - on the hill north of where Mr. Needham once lived. "Pleasant Grove" I think they called the church and grounds. In 1843, when mother thought she would not recover from the measles, she requested you to bury her in that old burying ground, but she was unable to designate clearly the spot where our father was buried. I suppose the ravages of fire and time have entirely destroyed every vestige of the old church and burial place.

The names of the families that lived around and about the old church are still green and fresh in my memory. Needham, Simpson, Stewart, Edmonson, the Jacksons and Tomlinson - "Tomkins" we called the latter. These families were early settlers in that county and knew something of the hardships incident to the pioneer settlers. There were some wild animals - bears amongst them - in those woods at an early day. I have seen many beech trees bearing the mark of bear claws in Poplar Creek bottom as well as in the bottom of the Forked Deer River, isn't it.

"There are no times like the old times
They shall never be forgot.
There is no place like the old place,
Keep open the dear old spot."

The physical appearance may fade out in some cases but the mental record we keep green as long as the mind is capable of healthy action. And even after the mind has lost its power of coherent activity the memory often retains to the very last the impressions indelibly engraved.

Since about the last of January we have had good winter weather. The mercury has dropped several times below zero, and we are having snow on top of snow, and still it comes.

Considerable sickness has prevailed here as well as elsewhere. La Grippe gets the credit of most of the complaint. In the unsophisticated days of long time ago we would have simply said "Bad Colds." A little farther along when "colds" were very prevalent we said that we had "influenza". But, now when we have become more civilized as well as more "Frenchified" we say, LaGrippe. Well, in many cases it is a death grip for it paves the way for pneumonia or other malady which often results fatally.

I hope you and yours are steering clear of the disorders for it would tax your strength, especially you and Rachel, to cope with such a foe. As for myself, I am such a common sort of individual I've never had anything more refined than a "Common Cold" and I would not complain if I should be passed by altogether unnoticed by such visitors.

My greetings and best wishes to all the family.

Your brother

Dear Sally

I arrived safe at this place today at one o'clock. I am well. this is a brisk place you may be sure waggons carts drays omnabusses and people are so thick that I can hardly get along. Nothing of importance occurred on my way here. There is a very marked difference in vegetation here and at home. the leaves on the trees are grown here. People are working their shugarcane, irish potatoes are nearly thru and cabbage as large as my hat. I saw an alligator today he was 6 or 8 feet long. I leave here in the morning at seven oclock for Galveston. I hope you are all well. Kiss and tell the Baby howdy for me.

Yours

THE NEBLETT-SMITH FAMILY

(Article taken from "Women's Work and Other Historical Events of First Christian Church, Clarksville (Montgomery County), Tennessee, 1842-1954", compiled and arranged by Hazel McCracken McDaniel.)

Mr. Jones D. Neblett was born on the south side of the Cumberland River in this county, July 23, 1839. He united with the Christian Church in 1867 and for many years was an elder of the congregation. He also served as Superintendent of the Sunday School.

He married February 4, 1868 to Miss Clara Smith, who was also a member of this church. She too was a loyal worker, teaching for many years in the Sunday School and serving as leader in the women's work. She was the first president of the Missionary Society and the last president of the Ladies' Aid in 1904.

To Mr. and Mrs. Neblett were born Annie Neblett (Mrs. Frank Ussery, deceased), William Coulter Neblett, Norman Neblett (deceased), J. D. Neblett, and Clara Neblett, a member of the present congregation, who is a willing worker who has yet to refuse an assignment of the church work. Annie Neblett served as organist and was a member of the choir until her marriage November 12, 1902.

Coulter Neblett married Minor Daniel April 7, 1898, and another splendid worker was added to the church. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coulter Neblett took an active part in the choir work of the church, and Mrs. Neblett (Miss Minor as she was called) taught a class of girls in Sunday School for many years. Those remembered (Class of 1902) are as follows: Nettie Turnley, Virginia Gerhart, Florence Scott, Matie Beach, Kate Elliott, Hazel McCracken, Mary Brame, and Lena Page.

Norman Neblett, born February 26, 1870, died in young manhood. In 1888 he was riding to the city when his horse fell with him and crushed his foot. After much suffering and in spite of the best surgical skill that the City of Louisville, Kentucky afforded, he died from this accident on February 3, 1892. His pastor, Rev. A. M. Growden, said of him, that he was "a most excellent young man, true, earnest, pious, affectionate, a pillar in the church and a devoted worker for the interest of young people." The Young People's Society was called at that time Y.P.M. and he was the society's vice-president. He was also prominent in the Y.M.C.A. work.

Miss Goergia Neblett, niece of Mr. Jones Neblett, was a member of this Sunday School in childhood, and was baptized by Rev. Case in 1887, at the age of ten. She was later one of the popular teachers of Howell School. Her intelligence and many lovable traits of character won for her a host of friends. She married Hadley Allen on February 2, 1905, and Rev. R. L. Cave performed the ceremony. She now lives in the Palmyra neighborhood a few miles from Clarksville.

MART-SMITH FAMILY

Mrs. Jones Neblett's Christian background in this church dates back to her grandfather, J. J. Mart, who was a consistent member of this church. He was born in 1803 and died July 13, 1889.

His daughter, Mrs. Angelia C. Smith, after her marriage lived in Logan County, Kentucky. After her husband's death, she returned to Clarksville in 1864 and became identified with this church. She died at her home on the Edmondson Ferry Road, June 18, 1887, and Rev. D. W. Case conducted the funeral services.

Her children were Mrs. Jones Neblett (Clara Smith), Mrs. Chas. Mauzy (Abbie Smith), Miss Kate Smith, W. E. Smith, and Richard Smith who at one time lived in Russelville, Kentucky.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mauzy (deceased) and their daughter, Katie Clair (Mrs. Grover Russell), were all members of this Sunday School and church. Old records show that this family was active as early as 1888. Later they moved to Dallas, Texas.

Miss Kate Smith died March 5, 1899, at the age of 35. Rev. T. D. Garvin conducted the funeral services.

OBITUARY of Dr. J. W. Penn from the Humboldt, Tn. newspaper THE MESSENGER, November 1, 1895.

Dr. J. W. Penn died at his residence on Fort Hill at 5 o'clock on Saturday morning after but a few days illness with congestion. Dr. Penn was the third son of Josiah and Ruth Broughton Penn. He was born about two miles north of Humboldt, on August 31, 1836, his parents having moved to this county from Rutherford county two years before. At the age of 20 Dr. Penn began reading medicine with Dr. C. T. Love, who died here about a year ago. About a year later he went to Smyrna, where he continued his studies with Dr. J. W. Davis until the fall of 1857, when he entered the medical department of the University of Nashville, graduating in February, 1859. He then came to Humboldt to practice and on May 7, 1860, married Miss Cordelia H. Stillwell, eldest daughter of Dr. W. H. Stillwell, at that time practicing his profession here. Seven children were born to them, and all are living. James is a merchant in Humboldt, Ruth, now Mrs. J. A. Foote of Iuka, Miss, George, a physician living at Iuka, Miss., Florence, a teacher in the college, Bessie, a teacher at Dyersburg, Ben a physician in Humboldt and Mattie at home. Mrs. Penn died October 15, 1881, and on March 2, 1883, Dr. Penn was married to Miss Mary A. Stillwell, a sister of his first wife. She had miserable health for many years and died on November 23, 1893. Dr. Penn has always been a resident of Gibson County except for two brief periods when he was at Iuka, Miss., and a short time at Eureka Springs, Ark. He was for very many years recognized as one of the brightest lights in his profession in the state. He served one term as Vice-President of the State Medical Society and several years later was honored by being elected President. His end was peaceful. Surrounded by all of his family except Mrs. Foote who arrived later, he bade adieu to this world. The funeral was held at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon and was very largely attended. The services at the grave were conducted by the Rev. J. H. Garth, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which denomination Dr. Penn had been a member for very many years.
